

Contributors

Øyvind T. Gulliksen is Professor Emeritus (American Literature and Culture), University College of Southeast Norway, campus Bø i Telemark, and presently “Honorary Research Scholar in Nordic Studies” at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. Among his publications are: Twofold Identities (2004), Paradoksal trøst (2007) and Fra svar til undring (2014, with Årstein Justnes). He is also the editor of Norwegian-American Essays, volumes 12 and 13 and co-founder of the Norwegian “Forum for litteratur og religion” [Forum for the Study of Literature and Religion]. His memberships include the jury for “The International Ibsen Award” (2007–2012) and “Det norske språk- og litteraturselskap” [The Norwegian Literature and Language Association]. He can be reached at: Oyvind.Gulliksen@hit.no.

Outi J. Hakola is an Academy of Finland Research Fellow at the Area and Cultural Studies, University of Helsinki. Her background is in media and literature studies. Her research concentrates on questions of emotions and representations of death, and politics of humor in media. Her recent books include Death and Mortality: From Individual to Communal Perspectives (edited together with Sara Heinämaa and Sami Pihlström, COL-LeGIUM, 2015) and Rhetoric of Modern Death in American Living Dead Films (Intellect / Chicago University Press, 2015). She can be reached at: outi.j.hakola@helsinki.fi.

Seunghyun Hwang is an Assistant Professor in the Department of English Language and Literature at Kyonggi University, Suwon-Si, South Korea. He earned a PhD in Theatre at Ohio State University. His articles have appeared in the Journal of Modern English Drama, The New Korean Journal of English Language and Literature, English 21, and Canadian Review of American Studies. He can be reached at: loveins1019@yahoo.com.

Marta Rzepecka graduated from Maria Curie-Skłodowska University in Lublin, Poland, with a Ph.D. in American Literature. She is affiliated with the University of Rzeszów. She holds three research stipends and grants from Freie Universität, the Kosciuszko Foundation, and the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations. She was an intern at the University of Leicester and the University of South Florida. Her main research interest has been rhetoric and the American presidency. She can be reached at: marta.rzepecka@ur.edu.pl.

Justin Parks is Associate Professor at Universitetet i Tromsø – The Arctic University of Norway, where he teaches courses on US literature and culture and international modernism. He has also taught in Finland and the United States. At UiT, he is affiliated with the Border Poetics / Border Culture research group. He has published (or has work forthcoming) on Muriel Rukeyser, Charles Reznikoff, Harry Smith, and Cathy Park Hong. His current monograph project investigates poetry's role in mediating the tensions between essentialist and pluralist notions of US culture between the world wars. He can be reached at: justin.parks@uit.no.

Orm Øverland is a professor emeritus who earned his Ph.D. in American Studies at Yale University in 1969. Øverland was professor at the University of Bergen until his retirement in 2005. He was elected member of the Norwegian Academy of Science and Letters in 1994. Among his many books are The Western Home (1996; American Studies Network Prize, 1997) and Immigrant Minds, American Identities (2000). He has published articles on Arthur Miller, Jack Kerouac, Upton Sinclair, "whiteness", and many other topics. He can be reached at: orm.overland@gmail.com.